Category H Firearms Licence – Firearms Safety Training Course

On completion of the 1F (Armed Guard) Licence Course and 1C Cash-in-Transit Guard subclass

Note: to carry on armed cash-in-transit activities you must hold both the Class 1C Cash-in-Transit Guard and 1F Armed Guard licence subclasses.

Firearms Licensing Requirement

After a Class 1F security licence has been granted, in accordance with conditions imposed under section 23E of the Security Industry Act 1997, licensees will be required to undertake Security Firearms Training. This requires the licensee to apply to the NSW Police Force Firearms Registry for a Category H Provisional Pistol Licence.

Security Firearms Training

- CPPSEC3114 Control security risk situations using firearms
This unit in this skill set includes the following prerequisite requirements
- CPPSEC3115 Carry, operate and maintain revolvers for security purposes, OR
- CPPSEC3116 Carry, operate and maintain semi-automatic pistols for security purposes

This training does not result in a firearms licence or permit.

Firearms and the Law

The NSW Government is committed to an agreed national approach to the control of firearms. Firearms ownership and use is a privilege, which is conditional on the overriding need for public safety and all firearms licence holders must be aware of their legislative responsibilities with respect to the possession, use and safe keeping of firearms.

All new applicants for a firearms licence must pass an approved firearms training and safety course in the safe handling and responsible use of a firearm.

NSW Police Force Firearms Registry

The Firearms Registry's purpose is to provide firearms and weapons licensing services to the community of New South Wales. The Firearms Registry is part of the NSW Police Force and is responsible for administering the Firearms and Prohibited Weapons legislation.

The Firearms Registry's mission is to increase community awareness and education in relation to firearm and prohibited weapon related requirements by providing the community with information on the possession, use and safe storage of firearms and prohibited weapons.

The Firearms Registry offers a range of services, including issuing firearm licences and permits to individuals, businesses, clubs and dealers, the registration of firearms and the monitoring of compliance of the Firearms Act 1996, the Weapons Prohibition Act 1998 and associated regulations.

Security Industry Firearms

The performance of security activities in New South Wales is governed by the Security Industry Act 1997 and Security Industry Regulation 2016.

All Security Industry licences are issued by the Security Licensing & Enforcement Directorate (SLED).

Security Industry Firearms Licences

Category H (Business/Employment) Licence

Application Requirements

The following requirements must be met prior to obtaining a non-provisional category H (business/employment) firearms licence for the first time as an armed security guard.

In addition to proof of identity, an applicant who has never held such a licence must supply the following:

- Firearms safety training course certificate of completion dated within 3 months of issue of their provisional licence.
- Firearms training course statement of attainment and employer details dated within 3 months of issue of their provisional licence for:
 - CPPSEC3114 - Control security risk situations using firearms.
- Firearms safety training course certificate of completion (annual)
- Current First Aid Certificate with the unit of competency HLTAID011 (Apply First Aid) or HLTAID014 (Provide Advanced First Aid).
- Current NSW class 1F security licence for armed guards

If the applicant does not currently hold a licence but has previously held a category H (business/employment) or an equivalent licence, they must supply the following:

- Firearms safety test certificate of completion
- Firearms training statement of attainment for:
 - CPPSEC3115 - Carry, operate and maintain revolvers for security purposes; and/or
 - CPPSEC3116 - Carry, operate and maintain semi-automatic pistols for security purposes; and
